CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

The fact that understanding the aims of God, Spirit, frees man from the idolatry of materialism will be set forth at Christian Science services this Sunday. Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "MATTER is the Golden Text from 1 Corinthians (10:14): "My dearly beloved, flee from idolatry." From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy the following passage will be read (475:3): "To infinite Spirit there is no matter—all is Spirit, divine principle and its idea." Scriptural selections will include the following from Isaiah (42:5-6): "Thus saith God the Lord, he that created the heavens, and stretched them out; he that spread forth the earth, and that which cometh out of it; he that giveth breath unto the people upon it, and spirit to them that walk therein: ... I am the Lord; that is my name; and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images."

'We've Come a Long Way Together...

A replica of the first Froelich tractor which was the "granddaddy" of the present-day complete line of John Deere Tractors

One morning back in 1892, the peace and quiet of the little Iowa town of Froelich was shattered by an unfamiliar roar — the cough and clank of a one-cylinder engine mounted on the running gear of a steam traction engine. This one-lunger, the pride of John Froelich, proved a success and soon moved out of Iowa to the broad plains of the Dakotas. That fall it helped harvest over 72,000 bushels of small grain.

From that humble beginning has come the great line of John Deere Tractors . . . tractors that today offer advantages undreamed of just a few years ago. Time has changed . . . John Deere Tractors have "come a long way."

And through these years, as the John Deere Dealer in the community, we've been a part of this progress. We've seen changes in tractors in equipment, in farming methods, in farms. We've made new friends to be cherished as old friends as the years passed by. Yes . . . we've come a long way together in this community . . . you, our customers, John Deere, and ourselves. It's a winning combination that enables us to face the future with confidence.

Sirens To Scream Sept. 21st

At an unstated time on the morning of Wednesday, Sept. 21, air raid sirens will send out their warning to thousands of Calgarians that an air raid is in the offing. Those concerned have been instructed as to procedure and will lose no time in embarking for points outside the city.

As we have stated before, local plans are a bit clouded (through no fault of town authorities) but it would be wise, in our opinion, if those in higher echelons let a little information seep through so we would know just a little bit more as to what can be expected and what arrangements should be made before "D" Day, "S" Day, or whatever they call it.

Getting back to things being clouded, the skies hereabouts are just that way today (even had a little snow), which brings to mind the condition of the highway route to town. When the fella' who handles the elements deems to let us have extra moisture main arteries to Didsbury, from No. 2 highway, are practically impassable under normal traffic. With the influx scheduled on Sept. 21 we can only hope there are scores of tow trucks available in case of heavy rains.

We don't expect to see men and women carrying their children, family heirlooms, food, etc., on their shoulders as they plod through the mud to take refuge in Didsbury, but in a real emergency with vehicles mired down, that is just what we would see. What ever happened to those pre-election promises of hard surfaced roads into towns off the main stem?

Didsbury is expected to shelter upwards of 3,000 people in this mass civil defence plan, the largest held in Canada to date. We hope and trust it will be a success but it could be we'll have to set up a counter-espionage system to find out, if plans are kept as secret as they have been so far.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moore, Judy and Brian, and Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Howton, Danny and Jeanne made the trip over the new forestry road north of Red Deer ranger station to Nordegg on Saturday. Patay, Donnie and Dennis Morrison are home after holidays with various relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe McGaffin, Gordon and Anne, and Mr. Pat McGaffin and Miss Ena Rosted, Mr. Kenny Rosted, Joyce Rosted, Marilyn Stair, Allen Stair and Miss Barbara, and Miss Dorothy Stair and Mrs. G. Rosted were Banff visitors a week ago Sunday.

No Dignity To Capital Punishment

We were interested and surprised to read Beverly Baxter's London Letter in Maclean's Magazine of the current issue where he attacks capital punishment so severely. The point at

WALTER LEAGUE HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The September meeting opened with the hymn "All ye Who on This Earth Do Dwell," reading of Romans 13 and a prayer.

A very interesting discussion was held from the question box.

The roll was called, visitors welcomed, and minutes of the previous meeting read and adopted.

It was reported the fleet was entered in the Canara's parade, August 24th. It was decided the next meeting would be devoted to the discussion of the resolutions passed at the 6th International Walter League Convention at New York.

Mrs. George Pieper served lunch to 25 Leaguers and 5 friends.

Husband to wife as he announced unexpected callers: "Here — in spite of snow, frost and biting winds — are the Thompsons."

issue was the recent hanging of a young and supposedly beautiful British woman for a murder which she admittedly did and for which she pleaded guilty, with no plea for mercy. She was the mother of two children and divorced from her husband. She had become involved in a promiscuous love affair with another man. This man tired of her and deserted her. In her humiliation she deliberately acquired a gun with which to commit the murder, and while she killed her victim with the first two shots fired at him, she, in revenge, pumped the additional four shots in the gun into his body after he had fallen. There is no dignity to a public execution and Baxter enters a plea for the end of capital punishment. This case had international repercussions. The French press made quite an issue out of the barbaric British. We mention all this because the Canadian House of Commons has had a committee studying the problem of capital punishment for nearly two years. Advance reports are to the effect that the committee's report will not advocate the abolition of capital punishment, but will recommend the use of the electric chair or the gas chamber. During the hearings on the matter, one of the most disturbing elements with law enforcement recommended that the death penalty be retained. One of the most disturbing elements the law enforcement officers have to contend with is the sob sister sentimentalists who would circumvent punishment and penalties. It is all very well to weep over the penalty inflicted upon this self-confessed murderer, but why not meditate for a moment over her unlucky victim. He perhaps, deserved what he got but he never had a chance against the premeditated murderess. We will give the breaks to anyone and everyone who indicates that such a move might set them on the right road again, but we are not going to waste sentimentalism on the confirmed menace to society.

Kitimat grows

Already Alcan's big new West Coast smelter goes ahead with TWO major increases to meet the rapid growth in demand for Canadian aluminum

The broken lines on the photograph roughly indicate the additional area to be occupied by new smelters and other buildings. Beyond the present plant (the aluminum structure in the middle ground) can be seen the harbor and docks of Kitimat.

In August, 1954, only 3½ years after ground was broken, the Kitimat smelter commenced production of aluminum with an annual capacity of 91,500 tons. Almost immediately a 60,000-ton extension was started. And in the spring of 1955 the decision was made to proceed with a flexible program to add a further 180,000 tons to ingot capacity.

...A progressive increase to 331,500 tons, more than three times the size of the original installation, and well on the way to our ultimate Kitimat goal of 550,000 tons a year.

"This continuing expansion of Kitimat in successive stages", stated Aluminum Limited president Nathanael V. Davis, "should, we believe, help to keep pace with the growing free world demand for aluminum and particularly the demand in our major export markets, the United Kingdom and the United States."

The new facilities will go into production step by step, with the first unit starting up in the fall of 1956. It is expected that the present building program will be completed in 1959.

SKUNK-TAIL GRASS or WILD BARLEY: During the past week I have had a number of enquiries about what to do with land that is infested with so called Fox-Tail. Actually this is the wrong name for it as fox-tail we will call it that for but since everyone refers to this weed
now. This is a perennial forming large tufts but sending out no running rootstocks. This grass is a serious enemy to stockmen being a source of injury to horses, cattle and sheep. The barbed seeds and awns penetrate the soft tissue of the mouth, causing irritation and ulcers.
There is no difficulty in eradicating this fox-tail (skunk grass). Any land which can be plowed and worked in a normal fashion can soon be rid of this unwelcome weed. It grows freely about edges of hay fields, sloughs, etc. and is usually ripe before hay is cut. The remedy in this case would be cutting before the seeds are ripe. In a wet season a second cutting may be necessary to prevent seed setting. When fields of bromus grass are badly infested, it is to break it up, take a crop of grain and reseed to grass.
Or the fields may be burnt over in the fall, destroy such seeds which have fallen; early in the spring plow the sod shallow and work it down well. In this way the bromus grass may be renewed without reseeding, and most of the weed destroyed. There is at present no sure kill chemical method of dealing with this weed that will prove entirely satisfactory.

PREVIOUS MISTAKE ?

Two sweet young things were discussing affairs of the heart.
"So you've accepted Tom?" said
one acidly. "I suppose he didn't happen to mention that he had previously proposed to me?"
"Well, not exactly," replied the other blandly; "but he did confess that he'd done a lot of silly things
before he met me."

ANTI-SOCIAL CARS
Let us stop fault finding; also let us make sure that we do not put road blocks of any nature in any one's way. This is a rather free but very fractional translation of Romanus 14:13. At any rate this idea gives one a feeling that one should be very careful about the behavior of one's own car, before one says anything about either the behavior or misbehavior of any other car.
A psychologist having analyzed the causes of many car accidents in Canada, said: it was his conviction, that they were nearly all caused by anti-social behavior. That means that anti-social behavior brought death to over fifty Canadian people during the long Labor Day weekend.
By the way! I think it should be written "weekend" don't you? Especially since we use the term to avoid making any reference to The Lord's Day.

Let us come back to these anti-social cars. St. Paul wrote: "The law is fulfilled in one word." I presume he would permit us to include the traffic law in this statement.
That one word however is not the word "anti-social." It is "Love."
Anti-social means, get out of my way. Love means, I am willing to help you on your way.

Being anti-social is being selfish.
With selfish people in a group of workers or in charge of a group of workers we get strikes and walk-outs.
With selfish people in the government we get revolutions, demonstrations and wars. With selfish people in a community we get quarrels, brawls and law suits. With selfish people in automobiles we get someone hogging the right of way; someone speeding; someone cutting corners;
someone passing on the wrong side;
someone hit-and-run drivers. We get anti-social cars, untimely deaths, needless heartaches and useless sufferings.

Love does away with this. Because love on life's highways makes one unselfish, a fit member of society, with due respect for the rights and privileges of all.

A small boy walked across a city
in winter's cold and in summer's heat
in sunshine and rain to attend Sunday school. He was invited to attend a Sunday school near his home.
He declined the invitation. On being asked why, he replied "They love a fellow over there." Is there anything that does so much for us as love?

Love is needed everyday in our homes, schools, church, towns and communities. Yes and on our highways. "Now abide! faith, hope and love. These three, but the greatest of these is love."

DISTRICT NEWS

Highland Notes

(From Our Own Correspondent)

(Intended for last week)
Mr. Eddie Adams has been on the sick list for a few days but we all hope he is feeling better by now.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hovton and family and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moore and family motored over the new forestry road to Nordegg on Saturday. The scenery is beautiful but the road quite narrow in spots. It was interesting to actually see a short town, everything in town was vacated but a few houses and one garage.

A birthday party for Mervin Striner was held at his home on Tuesday afternoon with several of his friends present. It was a surprise to him with everyone receiving a prize. A bounteous lunch was served to close the party.

Bill Moore and Donnie Erickson were Sunday dinner guests at the Eddie Adams home.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Waterstreet and Ralph of Cremona visited at the Striner home Tuesday evening.

We see Walter Gamble and family around the district again but haven't found out if it's just a visit, or if they are to be here for a while.

Mrs. O. O. Moore spent three days holiday at the Bob Moore home this week.

A FISHERMAN'S PRAYER

We have read many poems during the past 30 years on various sports and the fishermen seem to have more followers than the hunters, as far as the Dominion of Canada is concerned.

Out of the hundreds of poems, however, there is one outstanding eight-line masterpiece called A Fisherman's Prayer:

God grant that I may live

To fish until my dying day.

And when it comes to my last cast,

I then most humbly pray,

When in the Lord's safe landing net,

I'm peacefully asleep.

That in His mercy I be judged,

As good enough to keep.

Notes From D.A.

By HOWARD J. FULCHER

Farm manure is one of the most valuable farm products we have. Much money will be spent for commercial fertilizer every year, yet waste of manure is to be allowed to go on. Manure, a by-product of our livestock industry when applied to the land will return its value in better crop yields due to the increase fertility of the soil.

Manure is perishable 50% of the value can be lost in three months by improper handling. Losses occur by urine run off, by leaching and by fermentation, prevention of these is important.

Urine content of manure pound for pound has more fertilizing value than the feces, loss of this can best be prevented by ample bedding and tight gutters. Leaching losses are greatest when manure piles are open and exposed to soaking by rains, piles under eaves lose high amounts of valuable plant food due to leaching. Fermentation causes nitrogen to go off or a gas, this occurs most rapidly in dry loose piles.

To prevent fertility loss in manure the use of plenty of bedding and hauling directly from barns to fields is the best method. When this cannot be done due to labor, field condition or weed seeds build compact high perpendicular sided piles, have these piles kept moist, this will reduce losses to about 15%.

Loose housing and deep litter programs tend to less manure losses because of no outside storage or urine run-off.

Manure is valuable, but the re-

Changes To Be Made In Insurance

UNEMPLOYMENT FUND REGULATIONS CHANGED

Canadian workers will make weekly instead of daily contributions to the unemployment insurance fund starting next month.

This is one of the main features of new regulations under amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Act approved at the last session of Parliament. The revised act will be proclaimed Oct. 2.

Among scores of changes, the new act raises to $30 from $24 the amount of insurance an unemployed married person may draw weekly in the top wage category. The maximum for single unemployed is raised to $23 from $17.10.

Under new regulations weekly contributions by employee and employers will be based on actual earnings in a week. They will not be based, as at present, on the number of hours or days in which the earnings are obtained or on the rate of earnings for a full week.

They provide for example, that contributions by employer and employee for a person earning $33 to $39 a week will be 42 cents each week, to be paid regardless of whether the individual works one or six days.

At present contributions by the two groups are 48 cents a week if a person is employed a full week. Rate of contribution for persons working less than a week is six cents a day for each day worked.

Maximum contribution under current regulations for a person earning $4,800 a year is 54 cents a week.

Under the new regulations there is no change in the wage ceiling but workers earning between $51 and $57 a week will pay 56 cents and those earning $57 a week and over 60 cents.

Unemployment insurance will continue to be paid by all salaried persons earning up to $4,800 a year. There also is no change in the provision that persons employed by the hours, day or no piece work must make contributions even if their yearly earnings go over the $4,800 ceiling.

New regulations provide that a worker must make 130 daily contributions in a two-year period to be eligible for benefits. This means an individual must work each working day for 30 weeks.

Under new regulations benefits will be paid if a person makes contributions over a 30-week period. In other words a person may work one day a week for 30 weeks and be eligible for some benefits.

But the rate of benefits will be based on the contributions and will be less than the maximum.

Present rates of benefits range from a $4.50 weekly minimum to $24 for person with dependents.

The minimum is $8 weekly and the maximum under $30 under the new regulations.

COVER ALL CANADA

The Canadian Federation of Mayors has passed a resolution using the Federal Government to extend the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act to cover all of Canada's 10 provinces. That proposal should get serious consideration.

The act in question was passed in 1935 to meet the drastic situation resulting from 10 years of drought, depression and pests, particularly in the south-central region of the Canadian prairies. The legislation dealt with water and soil conservation and better utilization of the land.

Turns from it either green or rotted will be realized only when it is spread on the land.
